

APPENDIX C:

Interviewer: So Ms. x, how have you been finding the product so far?

Ms. x: It's pretty decent work, but I have a few comments.

Interviewer: Were you able to register and log in?

Ms. x: I first tried to login, however since my credentials were not stored, I got referred to the registration page. The application clearly guided me throughout this process and did not allow false credentials. However, when I struggled to remember my password, there was no option to reset it and I had to make a new account.

Interviewer: What about the interface, any comments?

Ms. x: The styling could use some work, however it showed me clearly the navigation to different pages in the website, and the questions and filters were clear.

Interviewer: Did the filtering work properly?

Ms. x: The section and unit filtering is very useful, and works perfectly. The interface lets me know which filter I selected and allows me to easily change the filter without switching pages. Also, its convenient that the markscheme is hidden from me until I click it, which allows me to avoid hiding it manually as I solve the question.

Interviewer: What about the practice test?

Ms. x: The practice tests I created were constantly very near the time limit I selected, and the questions being ordered from lowest to highest really helped my students organize their time. However, I would like to create tests from specific questions I select from the questionbank.

Interviewer: Alright, any further feedback?

Ms. x: I found that a few of the questions had inaccurate titles or incorrect sections and units, could you add a way to report these errors to you directly?

Interviewer: Sounds good Ms. x, any other comments on the product overall?

Ms. x: “Overall, the functions of the questionbank and practice tests were easily navigable and solved the problems I was facing with my students. However, I would like to create my own tests with my chosen specific questions, and I’d like to access previous tests I did. Also, I noticed a few incorrect titles and descriptions for questions that need to be fixed.”
